Part 7 — Reading Comprehension

Questions 20–22 refer to the following report.

Aster Finance — Internal Audit Summary Ahead of the bank's loan review, senior accountant Aurelia Cortez led an internal audit of the company's bookkeeping. Most records were in order: travel expenses from the Halston trip were properly documented, with a receipt attached to every claim, and staff had been correctly reimbursed. However, the audit uncovered one discrepancy: total expenditure on the expansion did not match the figure on the bank statement. On closer inspection, an overdue supplier invoice had been entered twice, and penalty interest had been quietly accruing on it. Cortez recommended correcting the entry before the loan is finalized.

20. Who led the internal audit? (A) A bank teller (B) The CEO (C) A senior accountant (D) A supplier
21. What problem did the audit uncover? (A) Staff had not been reimbursed (B) The company's figures did not match the bank statement (C) All the receipts were missing (D) The audit could not be completed
22. The word "accruing" in the report is closest in meaning to (A) building up (B) disappearing (C) being refunded (D) being cancelled

Questions 23–25 refer to the following article.

Marlowe Business Journal — Financing the Halston Bet To fund its move into Halston, Aster Home Technologies is negotiating a major bank loan. According to sources, the bank has asked the company to put up its headquarters as security, in the form of a mortgage. The loan would carry a relatively high interest rate and be repaid in fixed monthly installments over five years. Analysts note that the loan alone will not cover the full cost of the expansion. Founder Diane Whitfield is reportedly preparing to seek outside investors as well — a sign of just how expensive the Halston gamble has become.

23. What has the bank asked Aster to provide as security? (A) A cash deposit (B) Its Halston store (C) Its product designs (D) Its headquarters building
24. How will the loan be repaid? (A) In a single payment (B) In fixed monthly installments (C) Only after the launch (D) Through arbitration
25. What does the article suggest Aster will do next? (A) Seek outside investors (B) Sell its headquarters (C) Cancel the Halston plan (D) Merge with the bank
